

Frontken Corp. Bhd (FRCB MK)

Upcycle industries euphoria

Improving fundamentals come with higher PER

There is much excitement over (i) the rollover of its Customer X's advanced technologies process to 7+nm this year, 6nm and 5nm next year, (ii) growth in memory and sensors consumption and (iii) the rampup in local O&G activities from 2Q19. Set against this favourable backdrop, higher valuations are warranted, in our view, and we peg our FY20E EPS to a higher PER of 23.5x (from 20x PER) based on +1.5std above the mean, while maintaining our earnings forecasts for now. Still a BUY with a higher TP of MYR1.85 (+27sen).

Topline still driven by the semiconductor segment

Following from a recent meeting, management shared its 1Q19 revenue segmental breakdown by industry for the first time to provide a better picture of its revenue portfolio. The Group's 1Q19 revenue of MYR83.8m (+18% YoY) was 77% driven by the semiconductor segment (+12% YoY) and the rest was from the O&G segment (+51% YoY) (Fig. 3). Management also broke down further its 1Q19 revenue contribution from its semiconductor segment by technological nodes (Fig. 4).

Technological edge driving the growth

Management expects better works visibility in 2H19 in view of full utilization of its Customer X's 7nm and 7+nm for its customers' new model (i.e. Apple and AMD) launches this year. Management also posits that the recent Qualcomm-Apple settlement will bring forward 5G adoption and should propel demand for its Customer X's advanced nodes. In Singapore, we could see a pick-up in contributions from its sensor solutions customer, with the latter having secured new customers - Huawei and Xiaomi.

Sustainable O&G segment in the long run

Management explained that rising contribution from the O&G segment is due to more repair and maintenance (R&M) and coating works for old and new O&G equipment. This is as result of the increase in capex spending by oil majors. The Company has also seen increasing enquiries for its services and for longer-term contracts from its Customer P, which is still in the renegotiation process on pricing for each package. On top of this, the Company is targeting to secure new R&M works for 20 units of rotating equipment from Customer M.

Valuation

We now value Frontken by ascribing to our FY20E EPS a higher PER of 23.5x (from 20x), which is +1.5 standard deviation above the company's average historical 1-year forward PER (previously +1.0 standard deviation above) (Fig. 5).

This is justified, in our view, given that we project a robust 2-year (2018-2020E) earnings CAGR of 24.5%, driven by improving fundamentals for both the global semiconductor and local O&G industries.

We forecast strong earnings growth of 29.9% in FY19E and 19.3% in FY20E. We also expect Frontken's ROE to trend higher to 20.5% by FY20E from 17.2% in FY18.

At our revised target price of MYR1.85 (MYR1.58 previously), the stock would trade at a PEG of just 0.96x. Our target price of MYR1.85 also implies a lower exnet cash FY20E PER of 21.3x.

Since 80% of Frontken's revenue is derived from the semiconductor segment, of which 54% is contributed by its semiconductor segment in Taiwan, we think the most direct comparable peer is Shih Her Technologies (3551 TT; Not Rated). There are no consensus earnings forecasts for Shih Her Technologies, but Frontken's higher historical 2018 PER of 26.5x relative to Shih Her's 15.1x is justified in our view, given the former's superior ROEs (Fig. 1).

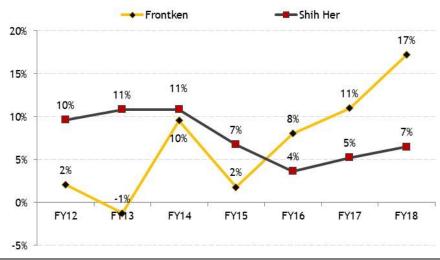

Fig 1: Frontken's and Shih Her Technologies' historical ROE

While there are no direct comparable peers in Malaysia with the same semiconductor operations as Frontken, we think its indirect comparable peer for its O&G segment in Malaysia is Serba Dinamik (SDH MK; Not Rated).

Value Proposition

- Frontken is a leading service provider of cleaning and coating of high-tech equipment in Malaysia and Taiwan.
- Group earnings have reached an inflection point with growth to pick up from increasing demand for advanced chips and the recovery of O&G industries.
- High barriers to entry for precision cleaning services due to stringent customer compliance that require in-depth knowledge, skills and expertise.
- Highly cash generative with operating cash flow in FY18 of MYR63.3m against net profit of MYR52.3m (depreciation MYR17.3m) and FCF of MYR55.8m.
- ROE has continued to improve from 4.3% in FY15 to 17.2% in FY18, through better profit margins.

Sustainable FCF and OCF

Source: Company, Maybank KE

Financial Metrics

- We expect Frontken's revenue to continue to grow in the next three years on increasing demand for advanced chips and improving O&G industries outlook.
- Higher profit margins due to better services fees for handling complex equipment of advanced wafer fabrication process from 7nm and beyond.
- Net cash position (13sen/sh) in FY18 on low borrowings and strong cash flow.
- The Group paid higher dividend in FY18 of 1.5sen (vs. 0.5sen in FY17), equal to a 30.1% payout ratio. We forecast a 30% payout ahead, supported by strong FCF and an increasing net cash position in FY19E-21E.

Net cash and strong FCF to support higher dividend payout

Price Drivers

Historical share price trend

Source: Company, FactSet, Maybank Kim Eng

- 1. Achieved higher revenue from the semiconductor business in Taiwan and recognition of one-off EPCC project, which was the ATB project at Tanjung Bin.
- 2. Slump in oil and gas price naturally affected production and maintenance activities, coupled with unfortunate cost overrun in its ATB project.
- 3. The global semiconductor market grew at an impressive rate throughout 2017 (+21.6% YoY), posting higher core net profit of 99% YoY for Frontken.
- 4. CEO of Frontken, Ng Wai Pin emerged as the largest shareholder after an indirect acquisition of 27.77% was made via Dazzle Clean Ltd in Aug 2018.
- 5. Negative sentiment on the start of a slowdown in global sales of smartphones to end users.

Swing Factors Upside

- Higher utilisation rate of wafer fabrication equipment and capacity expansion of logic foundry and memory companies.
- Higher-than-expected work orders from new advanced technological nodes.
- Rally in oil prices and higher capex that can spur O&G activities.

Downside

- Lower utilisation rate on tapering demand for smartphones and electronic devices.
- Lack of development in other markets and investment on new advanced technological nodes.
- Sharp fall in oil prices and industry capex lead to lower O&G sector demand for services.
