Stronger 2HFY18 ahead

- Post AWC's 2QFY6/18 briefing, we are more positive on the prospects of its engineering and environment divisions and its potential venture into the rail business.
- Despite a stronger performance from facilities division, its 1HFY18 core net profit was flattish at RM8.8m (-0.2% yoy). This was due to weak results from other divisions.
- We expect AWC to record a stronger 2HFY18, driven by a pick-up in progress billings in both the engineering and environment divisions as well as better cost control.
- We are also positive on its potential plan to venture into the rail business segment. We believe it would likely to take the M&A route.
- No change to our Add call, as well as our SOP-based TP of RM1.28.

More positive after 2QFY18 results briefing

AWC's 2QFY6/18 results briefing was attended by around 15 analysts and fund managers. It was represented by its newly appointed CFO Mr. Richard Voon, who spoke in detail about: i) 1HFY18 results, ii) future prospects especially in engineering and environment divisions, and iii) potential venture into the rail business. We are more positive following the results briefing due to improved earnings prospects.

Lower revenue from engineering and environment divisions

1HFY18 revenue declined 5.7% yoy to RM134.6m due to lower contributions from environment and engineering divisions. This was mainly due to project delays in both the divisions. 1HFY18 EBITDA margin also waned to 11% (-3.4% pts yoy), following lower contributions from higher margin segments (environment and engineering). However, 1HFY18 core net profit was flat at RM8.8m (-0.2% yoy), as higher recognition from new facilities projects mitigated weaker contributions from the other two divisions in 1HFY18.

Facilities division led the way in 1HFY18

The facilities division recorded the highest PBT in 1HFY18 at RM 9.6m (+>100% yoy). This was mainly due to improved revenue contribution and better cost control. The facilities division's 1HFY18 revenue increased 10.4% yoy to RM75.5m, thanks to the commencement of four new projects in Putrajaya, as well as Capital Asset Refurbishment Programme (CARP). For CARP, we understand that AWC has recognised RM6m out of the RM140m contract (as of 2QFY18), with the remainder to be recognised up till 2025.

Stronger 2HFY18 ahead driven by faster progress billings

We are confident that AWC will record a stronger 2HFY18 ahead. This is driven by expectations of faster progress billings in 2HFY18, as we gathered that the group aims to overcome project delays in both environment and engineering divisions. Overall, outstanding orderbook stands at RM1.1bn, consisting of contracts in: facilities division (RM813.6m), engineering division (RM169.4m) and environment division (RM125.2m).

Potentially venturing into the rail segment

AWC highlighted its potential venture into the rail business, leveraging on its expertise in the facilities management segment and asset life cycle. In Jun 2017, AWC had appointed Mr. Mohan Kumar (formerly with UEMS Solutions Sdn Bhd) as the CEO of its rail division which it had set up in Mar 2017. We believe that AWC is likely to venture into this business unit via M&A activities. We are positive on this, as if it materialises, it would add a potential revenue stream to AWC and may provide synergies with existing divisions.

Maintain Add; TP unchanged at RM1.28

We make no changes to our earnings estimates. Our Add call and SOP-based RM1.28 TP remain unchanged. Moving forward, we expect AWC's share price to trend higher due to stronger earnings delivery in 2HFY18 and potential M&A activities. Downside risks are contract execution delays and slower-than-expected orderbook replenishment.
