Maybank IB Research

MRCB-Quill REIT (MQREIT MK)

Buys Menara Shell

Another office acquisition in KL Sentral

We are Neutral on this latest acquisition pending further details from the management. With Shell People Services Asia and AmGeneral Insurance being the anchor tenants with long-term leases, this new office building asset should have relatively low occupancy risks. We maintain our earnings forecasts and MYR1.15 DCF-based TP. HOLD.

Acquires Menara Shell from its sponsor

MQREIT has entered into a Heads of Agreement (HOA) to acquire a 33 storey office tower known as 'Menara Shell' together with a five-storey podium and a four-storey basement car park in Kuala Lumpur Sentral for MYR640m cash. The seller is 348 Sentral Sdn Bhd (a 100%-subsidiary of MQREIT's major unitholder). A definitive SPA will be signed upon the completion of the valuation and due diligence exercise on Menara Shell within 30 business days from the date of the HOA with an automatic extension of 30 business days. The purchase will be funded by debt and new units, we understand.

Neutral on the deal

We are Neutral on this acquisition pending further information from the management. Based on our back-of the-envelope calculation, the acquisition seems to be yield accretive with an estimated 6.3% net property yield, which is close to our estimated funding cost of 6.2% for MQREIT. Our assumptions include: i) an assumed ARR of MYR8.00 psf (similar to surrounding average office rental psf), 2) 100% occupancy rate and 3) 75% net property margin.

Maintain our forecasts

While we remain cautious on the broader office market segment which is in over-supply, we understand that Menara Shell is currently 60%-leased to Shell People Services Asia and is backed by a long-term lease; hence, it has a relatively low occupancy risk, providing some stability to rental income. Post-acquisition, MQREIT's gross gearing ratio could remain at about 0.43x, on par with the gearing ratio as at end-Sep 2015, assuming only 40% of the acquisition to be funded by borrowings.
